THE SWING ERA

"THE MUSIC OF 1940-41"

Yes, I want to take advantage of your Audition Plan and sample The Swing Era series. Enroll me as a subscriber and send me the first stereo record-and-book package, "The Music of 1940-41", for ten days without cost or purchase obligation. If I decide to return them in ten days, I will owe you nothing.

If I keep them, you will bill me for $12.95, plus shipping and handling. Then, approximately every two months, unless I tell you to discontinue shipments, you will send me the next three-record-and-book set in the series on approval. I will either return each set within ten days and owe nothing, or keep it, in which case Time-Life Records will bill me for $12.95 plus shipping and handling.

Time-Life Records Invites You to Audition THE MUSIC OF 1940-41

The first volume in a new series recapturing in music and pictures and story the fabulous Swing Era!

The Editors of Time-Life Records have recaptured the beautiful music of The Swing Era on modern stereo. Here is swing as it really sounded if you were lucky enough to be up front at Glen Island Casino in the early forties!

The three LPs are packaged together with a marvelous, nostalgic book, "How It Was To Be Young Then." The cost of the complete record-and-book package is low — actually less than you might expect to pay for the records alone!
